

FAQs about Conference Papers

2021. 12. 06

- Q: It is said in the Conference Announcement that peer-reviewed excellent papers can be published in the International Journal of Mining Science and Technology (IJMST). Should I pay any publication fee if my paper is going to be published in IJMST? And how much does this journal charge if there is a publication fee?

A: The Organizing Committee of this conference is appointed to handle the registration fee. As for the publication fee, it is necessary if your paper is going to be published in IJMST. The publication fee is charged by the editorial office of this journal and determined according to the page count of your paper.

- Q: Will I be allowed to join this conference by only submitting the abstract (not the full paper)? Provided that I have paid the registration fee.

A: Yes, of course.

- Q: Is it acceptable for the experts invited to give oral presentations to submit the abstract rather than the full paper?

A: Yes, of course.

- Q: Is there a DOI number for each paper that is compiled into the conference proceedings? And will I be allowed to submit my paper to other journals if it is compiled into the conference proceedings?

A: No DOI numbers will be assigned to the papers compiled into the conference proceedings, indicating that you can submit your paper to any journals if you wish.
